TRUMAN URGES LIMITED CONTROL POWERS

President Warns Conflict In Korea Will Be Costly and New Crises May Arise Elsewhere

Washington, July 26—(P)—President Truman today summoned the nation to "some sacrifice" of its civilian plenty. He declared himself ready to call for "complete economic mobilization" if the defense of freedom requires.

Mr. Truman told congress, in his midyear economic message, that price ceilings, rationing and "serious shortages" can be avoided if congress quickly gives him limited control powers and a $5,000,000,000 tax increase.

But he warned: "We must realize that the engagement in Korea will be costly and may not be short. We must prepare against the possibility that new crises may arise elsewhere."

Deep Concern Over Far East Situation Worry To Congress

Washington, July 26—(P)—Deep concern over the Korean situation, eased only in part by a reported trend toward optimism in some military thinking, kept congress busy today on homefront and global problems.

Along with the need for action today on President Truman's request for $5,000,000,000 in new taxes, the members concentrated on these other developments:

1. A call on Secretary of Defense Johnson to give an accounting not only on how much of $10,486,000,000 in proposed new military outlays would go to bolster defense in Korea, but on what has happened to the billions congress provided the armed services in the past.

2. A promise from Democratic leaders that within a few days the president will be equipped with a reasonable facsimile of the credit curbs and industrial controls he asked. They conceded some changes are likely in the administration's defense production bill providing the controls.

3. A prediction from Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, that the president will ask soon for at least $4,000,000,000 more in foreign military aid funds. Wherry demanded that all military appropriations be "laid on the table" (Turn to Page Eight)

CONTRACTS APPROVED IN VISCOSE PLANTS

Pittsburgh, July 26—(P)—CIO Textile Workers of the American Viscose Corporation have approved a new contract granting seven-cent-an-hour wage boosts to 17,000 workers in seven plants.

Locals at five of the seven plants approved the company's contract offer. One rejected it. Results in the seventh plant are still unknown. Affirmative votes in any four plants were needed for acceptance.

Herbert W. Payne, director of the union's synthetic division, estimated the total gains to workers at the seven plants would amount to $5,000,000 yearly.

Plants accepting the new pact are in Meadville, Marcus Hook and Lewistown, Pa., and Front Royal and Roanoke, Va. The Nitro, W. Va., plant turned it down and Parkersburg, W. Va., still is unheard from.

Neither union officials nor the company released exact voting results.

Sec. Johnson Says Country's Overall Fighting Potential Is At High Peak

Washington, July 26—(P)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said today this country's overall fighting "potential" was greater at the outbreak of the Korean war than at any time since America demobilized after World War II.

Striking back at his critics, Johnson added:

"Between March 1948 and June 1950 the actual manpower strength of the Army's mobile striking force in the continental United States—the general reserve—has increased by 165 per cent."

Johnson's insistence on the fit-to-fight condition of the Army, Navy and Air Force was contained in a statement prepared for a senate appropriations subcommittee considering President Truman's request for $10,486,976,000 more to finance the fighting in

QUICK ACTION IN EMERGENCY BARUCH PLEA

Elder Statesman Calls For All-Out Mobilization With Fast Freeze on Prices and Wages

WITNESS AT HEARING

Washington, July 26—(P)—Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch today called for all-out economic mobilization of the United States with a quick freeze on prices, wages and rents.

"Events have left us no choice," he said. "We have to mobilize."

Baruch, the government's mobilization advisor in two world wars, urged quick action in testimony prepared for the senate banking committee.

The senators are weighing a bill to give President Truman limited wartime controls in the present emergency. These would not include price control of any kind.

Baruch's recommendations included—but went far beyond—the president's requests. In his statement, Baruch referred to his former calls for economic mobilization. These led to differences between him and President Truman. Baruch has taken the position that the president was not doing enough for preparedness.

"Our aim should be to organize the nation so that every factory and farm, every man, every dollar, every bit of material can be put to use where it will strengthen our defenses and fill the most essential needs first," Baruch told the committee.

"There should be equal treatment for all. All demands should be kept in balance."

"I propose that we organize ourselves—all our resources of men, money, materials and morale—so that whatever happens—new aggressions abroad, possible destruction at home—whatever happens, the armed forces can get what they need."

Generation of Political Successes For Oklahoma Senator Terminates In Defeat

By The Associated Press

A generation of political successes ended today for Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma in his defeat in a bitter Democratic primary runoff.

Thomas, a veteran of 28 years in congress (all but four in the senate) and chairman of the powerful agriculture committee, conceded early today to Rep. Mike Monroney.

"There's not much else I can do," he told an Associated Press reporter in Washington.

National interest centered on the Oklahoma election with other primaries also being held in Louisiana, Arkansas and South Carolina.

Senator Russell B. Long, son of the late Huey P. Long, the Louisiana senatorial race. In Arkansas, Gov. Sid McMath, who generally supports the Truman administration, beat former Gov. Ben Laney, an anti-Trumanite, in the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

At the time that Thomas conceded the Oklahoma election, Monroney held a lead of more than 20,000 votes, on the basis of unofficial returns from 3,401 of the state's 3,788 precincts.

Senator Long in Louisiana won a six-year term hands down. He has served two years of an unexpired term.

Malcolm LaFargue of Shreveport last night gave up his fight for the Democratic nomination—in Louisiana the same thing as election—in the face of Long's better than two to one lead.

In Arkansas, McMath claimed victory early when he was 7,000 votes ahead, and said the results of the primary "will kill the Dixiecrat movement in the south and thus eliminate it from the nation."

HUNTER KILLED

Pittsburgh, July 26—(P)—A shot from a friend's .22 caliber rifle killed Charles W. Gent, 43, as he hunted groundhogs yesterday in a wood near Gibsonia, Richland township. Officers quoted Elmer Mahaffey, 46, as saying he accidentally shot Gent while aiming at a groundhog through a telescopic sight on his rifle.

General Superintendent of Pennsy Visits Warren

American railroads, and other officials, spent the day conferring informally with local industrial leaders and Chamber of Commerce representatives.

Guests of Mr. Teufel at a luncheon on his private railroad car were John Fenstermacher, chairman of the C. of C.'s Industrial Committee; C. of C. Secretary Nat Drake; F. W. Jefferson, traffic manager, Struthers-Wells Corp.; Robert Y. Kopf, president, and Marshall Kaltenbach, secretary, Hammond Iron Works; Bob Moorhead, Times-Mirror representative; E. P. Adams, Erie, superintendent of the P.R.R.'s Renovo Division; C. C. Kelsey, Erie, division freight agent; J. L. Rorabaugh, Erie, freight representative; and Orrin B. Kinney, local Pennsy agent. This group is shown in the above Times-Mirror photo, with Mr. Teufel welcoming the Warren visitors to the private car.

Another group of Warren industrial representatives also were dinner guests of Mr. Teufel last night. They included Harry Logan, president, and Ralph Brasington and Perry Davidson, of the United Refining Co.; and H. D. Marsh and H. G. Hester, of the Sherwood Refining Co.

Enemy Uses Women And Tots As Shields

An Advanced U. S. Command Post in Korea, July 26—(P)—A U. S. officer said today North Koreans herded several hundred Korean men, women and children before them in this morning's attack around Yongdong.

The non-combatants were used as a shield for four tanks to cross a bridge, said Maj. William O. Witherspoon, South San Francisco.

The Americans withheld their fire and the tanks got up to positions for attack.

This is the way Witherspoon described the fighting, in which Americans fell back east of Yongdong. The withdrawal was orderly and casualties were reported not heavy.

Sudden Death Of Venango Official Is Mourned Here

Word has been received by Warren relatives that Robert Coleman Huling, 52 year old commissioner of Venango county and president of the Pennsylvania Association of County Commissioners, died suddenly today at his home in Franklin.

Born in Pleasantville, he was a son of Mrs. Myrtle Huling, 403 Madison avenue, this city, and the late J. P. Huling. Also surviving him are his wife, Hazel, and one son, Robert Coleman Huling, Jr., in Franklin; a brother, C. C. Hulings, Warren, and another brother Paul Huling, in Marietta, O. Two sisters, Anna Mary, of Warren, and Mrs. C. A. Shields, of Tionesta, preceded him in death.

Mr. Huling complained to his wife of feeling ill shortly after he had returned home from his job as night personnel director for the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company, and died soon afterwards.

A prominent leader in city and county activities, he was elected Venango county treasurer in 1940 on the Republican ticket, served one term and was then elected county commissioner, a post he still held at the time of his death.

Services in his memory will be held at two o'clock Friday afternoon from the family home, with interment following in the Franklin cemetery. He was a member of the Methodist church and the rites will be conducted by his

President's Appeal For Five Billion Dollars In New Taxes Gets Unenthusiastic Reception

Washington, July 26—(P)—President Truman's call for $5,000,000,000 in new taxes got an unenthusiastic reception on Capitol Hill today—not because of the amount asked to fight Communist aggression, but because of the tax methods the president proposed.

The "quickie" increases, if approved by congress, would raise the annual take from individual incomes by an estimated $3,000,000,000 to about $21,900,000,000—higher than the wartime peak of $20,300,000,000 reached in 1944. Individual taxes would be boosted, beginning in October, by as much as 20 per cent.

A man with a wife and two children who earns 3,000 (after deductions but before family exemptions) now pays Uncle Sam $100. This would be jumped to $120; if his earnings were $4,000, the boost would be from $266 to $320; the $10,000 man would fork over $1,592 instead of $1,361 as at present.

Mr. Truman asked that the increases be made effective on all of this year's corporation income, and on three months of this year's income of individuals. He said "speed is of the essence." His proposals were embodied in a letter to Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee.

And he told George that this was only the first installment of new taxes—that a call for another boost might be expected in January.

Lawmakers raised no argument on the size of the president's request. They are ready to raise taxes, but many objected to:

1. Retroactive taxation on corporations. (Turn to Page Eight)

2. The new taxes would be levied on the second quarter and first six months of 1951.

U. S. Steel's net income in the second quarter was the highest in nearly 34 years at $69,861,496, equal to $2.44 a common share. This has been exceeded only once in the corporation's history, in the final quarter of 1916 when earnings totaled $90,811,588.

New records for products and services sold were $752,827,578 for the quarter and $1,387,609,105 for the half; for shipment of steel products $590,606 net tons for the quarter and 11,248,427 tons for the half year.

Planes and Infantry Smash At Communist Drive In South As Yanks Step Up Drive On Pusan

By The Associated Press

Korean Front: Planes and infantry smash at Communist drive across southern Korea, possibly recapturing Hadong, 70 miles west of Pusan. Carrier-based planes join ground force in blow on central sector. Reds make limited attacks in central sector while readying for anticipated new push on Pusan against narrowing American beachhead.

Tokyo: United Nations beachhead in Korea will hold, headquarters spokesman says. Line reported considerably stabilized.

Air War: B-29s hit 20 more bridges, strike at Red rail yards behind lines. U. S. and Australian planes knocked out six more enemy tanks, rip other Red equipment.

Lake Success: U. N. appeal for aid in Korea brings promises of ground troops from Turkey, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, British and Cuba.

Washington: Nation's leaders, concerned about trend of events in Korea, concentrate on building up power for world stand against Communism.

President Truman told the nation he is ready to call for complete economic mobilization if necessary. He asked congress for limited emergency powers and a five-billion tax increase.

London—Britain decided to send effective ground forces, including infantry, armor, artillery and engineers. Australia, New Zealand, Turkey and Thailand also offer forces.

By The Associated Press

Tokyo, July 26—(P)—Hadong, only 70 miles from Pusan, was reported recaptured by American infantrymen today.

A Fifth Air Force spokesman at headquarters in Korea said the Red-seized city in the south was subjected to vigorous assault by American infantrymen and planes. The city was reported ablaze.

He said carrier launched planes attacked the central front.

The unconfirmed report of the city's recapture might be the first step by United Nations forces to

BULLETIN

Fifth Air Force Headquarters in Korea, July 26—(P)—Fresh United States troops in relatively small numbers, apparently were in action today to halt the North Korean southeastern drive toward Pusan—main American supply port. Strong speculation arose that new American troops were in use on the southwestern front when a Fifth Airforce spokesman disclosed that U. S. infantry and planes attacked Communist occupied Hadong, only 70 miles by air west of Pusan.

plug the gap in their shrinking defense perimeter in southeast Korea.

The Reds put the squeeze on the United Nations front elsewhere today.

Besides seizing Hadong—which they may have since lost—they pushed the U. S. First Cavalry further away from Yongdong, threatened Pusan, vital U. S. southeastern base, and gathered strength for a running fight down the road to Kumsong from Yongdong. Yongdong was lost in the biggest ground action of the war.

Despite these reversals, which drew some pessimistic comment from the war front in Korea, a spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters said the battle lines around Yongdong have "stabilized considerably."

He added confidently: New American strength—which includes (Turn to Page Eight)

Tank Corporal Says the North Koreans Machinegunned Him and Two Others

By HAL BOYLE

An Advance Airbase in Korea, July 26—(P)—A tall young tank corporal said today North Koreans forced him and two other bound American prisoners to lie face down under a tree and then machinegunned them.

"I was the only one to escape alive," grimly said the corporal, a 21-year-old Irishman from the Bronx, N. Y. "A flight of our fighter planes frightened them off before they found out I wasn't dead."

The slender, brown-haired gunner, suffering from three bullet wounds in his left shoulder, told his story as he lay on a cot here awaiting evacuation to a hospital in Japan. His wrists were infected where wire fetters had cut into the flesh.

His name was withheld.

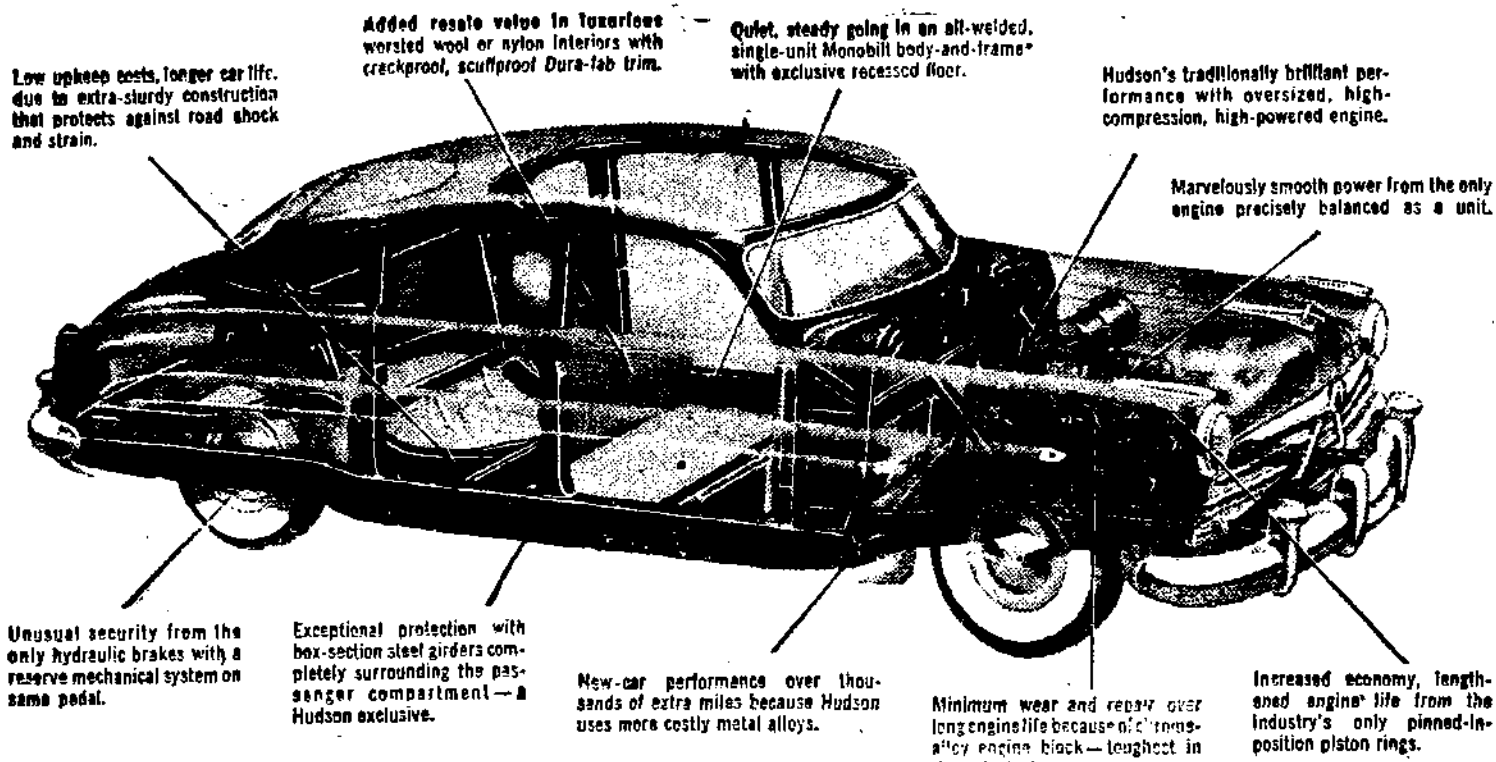

He said that five American light tanks going up a road seven miles north of Yongdong Monday ran into a force of 800 guerrillas. A shell hit the gas tank of his vehicle and the crew abandoned it.

"I stayed behind long enough to put a thermite bomb in the breach of our gun and destroy it," he said. "Then I jumped into the ditch where the other four men in our crew were lying."

"The Reds came down the ditch from both ends with automatic weapons. They killed our driver. The assistant driver disappeared. . . . I don't know what happened to him. The three of us left had to surrender."

Hal Boyle's Comment

BY HAL BOYLE

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea—(P)—Getting to the Korean battlefield is as hard as buying ten quick tickets to a hit Broadway play.

It is that popular. You have to stand in line to get here. Just why this is true I don't know. The people I have met so far seem to fall into three classes, none of which you would think would be interested in fighting.

1. There are the old line army officers who have been through two world wars and could retire—but they are still eager beavers in the service. They refuse to retire while the guns are still firing.

2. There are the brave boys below voting age who should have a lifetime of peace and education to look forward to—and yet they willingly put their bright future on the altar of patriotism.

3. There are young married men with children to raise. Wouldn't you think they would say "my family first, my country afterward?" But somehow they don't, bitter as the decision is.

To get to Korea you have to buck people from all three of these classes who want to get there ahead of you. There is a backlog all along the line and it is a kind of privilege to make the trip over.

To tell the truth, I didn't feel much that way myself at first. I thought it didn't make any real difference to me whether I came one week or the next. I know enough about war to realize that it always goes on longer than it is expected to.

But it only took Don Whitehead, an old buddy from the second world war, and myself about 49 hours to fly from New York to Tokyo. Then, after getting our gear and credentials, we were stymied for 72 hours going from Tokyo to Krea because of a typhoon.

That seems to me something our people at home don't realize—how much a part the weather plays in this war and how cleverly the North Koreans timed their attack to get the benefit of the rainy season.

You can fly 8,000 miles to Tokyo in two days and then be held up three or four days getting 800 miles from there to Korea.

It isn't of historic importance, of course, that a couple of correspondents were delayed three days by a big wind from getting to their assignment. But it is important that for much of that time the ground forces in Korea didn't get the full air support they so desperately needed.

The plane we finally got off on carried people of the three classes I mentioned earlier—the boys, the young men with families, and the older men with eagles or silver maple leaves on their shoulders who won't leave a fire while the damper are showing.

Because of further bad weather and a low priority I was among a group that was bumped from the plane and lost an extra day on the way. So did some of the boys and the young men with families. The older brass got through, probably for a good reason—they were more important.

First step to establish the Marine Corps was on November 10, 1975, when the Continental Congress authorized two battalions.

Today's Business Mirror

BY SAM DAWSON
New York—(AP)—The shooting war in Korea may soften the out-try against bigness in business, many believe. And if the shoot- ing spreads elsewhere, we may wish our industries were even big- ger than they are.
The biggest companies appear to make the most on each sale. And that galls many Americans, when the cost of living is rising and corporate earnings appear to be tied closely to rising prices. But in wartime the biggest com- panies also turn out the most goods, both for the military and for the civilians, defenders of big- ness point out.
It isn't merely a matter of big plants and many workmen. There is also highly specialized and ex- pensive machinery and the Amer- ican system of industrial inter- action—which is the art of mak- ing a vast, complex and widely scattered industrial process turn out a simple appearing product you pick up at the store without even wondering how it got there.
This industrial integration be- comes more spectacular when it turns the products of the mine and the field into military weapons. With war the chief peacetime problem of bigness disappears—the problem of the fine line be- tween bigness, which is regarded as good when it is economical, and monopoly, which is regarded as evil when it dictates to the con- sumer.

Before the Reds struck in Korea, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer asked "when everything else in America is getting bigger, shall we expect business to get smal- ler?" and the president of General Electric, Charles E. Wilson said: "No company and no industry has yet been big enough to bring enough goods to enough people."
Statisticians, however, leave philosophy to the executives and turn cold and calculating slide- rule on what advantages big com- panies have over small, and what advantages the little ones can boast.
Since 1949 was a year of ups and downs, as compared with 1947 when the trend was almost univer- sally on the upgrade, statisticians for the national industrial confer- ence board have compared the years. They find:
In 1949 the small companies made much less profit on each sale, and only the corporations with the biggest sales volume were able as a class to do better in profit on each sale in 1949 than in 1947. Total sales fell in all size classifications of corporations except those with assets of $100 million and more.

The smallest corporations were the hardest hit in total profits during the 1949 recession. The re- turn, which stockholders get on their equity increases as you go up the size scale from the small to the large corporation.
However, the statisticians find that the smallest companies are more likely to get a faster turn- over of assets, and hence a better return in relation to net worth.
A look at how the very biggest of corporations get along is taken by the statisticians of the Na- tional City Bank of New York. They find that the 100 largest manufacturing corporations, in the country, employing four mil- lion workers, have total assets of more than $49 billion. This means an average investment of $12,200 per worker.
The range is wide. At one end are the four rubber companies who invest $5,600 per worker. At the other are four tobacco com- panies, where the amount of money tied up in inventories is a major thing, and the investment is $41,200 per worker.
For the 100 biggest manufactur- ers as a whole, the average in- vestment per worker is divided thus: $5,400 tied up in plant and equipment; $6,800 represented by

Call Is Issued For Reserve Officers Of Company Grade

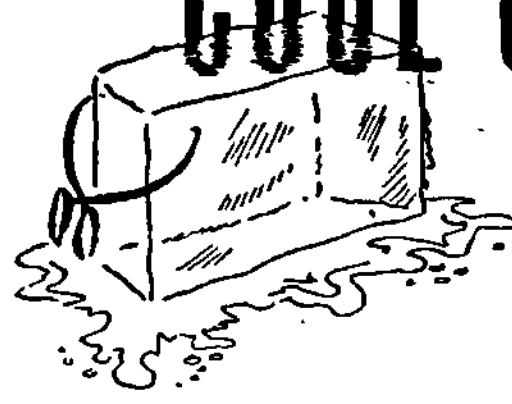

Washington, July 26—(AP)—The army has issued a call for re- serve officers of company grade to volunteer for service in 16 categories.
The army said that its greatest current need is for lieutenants and captains in the Medical and Dental Corps, the Engineers and the In- fantry.
It is also seeking experienced Reserve officers in the following branches: Chaplains Corps, Ord- nance, Signal, Finance, Chemical Warfare, Armored Force, Field and Coast Artillery, the Army Nurse and Women's Medical Special- ist Corps.
The army did not announce the number of volunteers it would ac- cept for active duty.
The Army statement said, how- ever, that current age-in-grade and physical requirements must be met by those who volunteer.
The army noted the following exceptions to normal procedure for handling applications from volun- teers:
1. Regular Army enlisted men or warrant officers holding reserve commissions must submit their ap- plications through standing mili- tary channels.
2. Reserve officers not on ex- tended active duty must apply to the chief of the military district of the state of their permanent residence.
3. National Guard officers must forward volunteer applications through National Guard channels to the adjutants general of the states concerned.
4. In issuing the call for reserve officer volunteers, the Army cau- tioned applicants against closing out their personal or business af- fairs until they had received de- finite orders to report for active duty.
The Army said that reserve of- ficers recalled under this volun- tary program will be required to report for duty within one month after active duty orders are issued.

F. stock- holder-membership in New York, New Jersey and Northern Penn- sylvania has increased to over 108,000 farmers. Dividends on G. L. F. stock on the year's operations, paid on July 15, totaled over $1 million.

In announcing the meeting plans, Chairman Drukenbrod stressed the important role which the local annual meeting plays in the G. L. F. system. Through these meetings, patrons determine poli- cies for local operations of G. L. F. And through the committeemen they elect, they help determine policies for over-all operations of the Cooperative G. L. F. Exchange.

McKean Co. Motor Club Holds Picnic At Wildcat Park

Ludlow, July 26—At the annual business session held in conjunction with the McKean County Motor Club's picnic at Wildcat Park, R. E. Wenstran, Ludlow, was reelected one of the directors of the organization.

The committee had arranged a fine program of games and amusement for the youngsters and plenty of entertainment for the adults. A picnic dinner was enjoyed at 5:30 p. m., and a prize-awarding session provided fun for all.

Gust Winkler received a life membership in the AAA for being the oldest member in the county; Albert Carlson is richer by five quarts of Kendall oil; Ronald Gilfert won two silver dollars for the wheelbarrow race, and the same amount for a 50-yard dash for boys; Carol Ralston won the same amount as winner of the penny scramble and an additional two silver dollars for winning the 50-yard dash for girls. Others winning prizes were Florence Carlson, Patsy Walters, Freddie Johnson and Frank Servidio. Pony rides was one source of great enjoyment for the youngsters.

Unwarranted Price Increases Opposed By A. & P. Stores

New York—The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, the nation's leading food distributor, moved against inflation today by pledging to "resist all unwarranted price rises with all our might." The pledge was contained in one of the rare public statements issued by John A. Hartford, chairman of the 91-year-old food chain, who said that A. & P. "will cooperate unhesitatingly with our national government in the present crisis."

"We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers," he said, "because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers, will cause higher prices."

"We will continue to maintain the lowest profit rate generally prevailing in the entire retail industry. Our net profit now is less than one cent on each dollar of sales."

The current profit rate cited by Mr. Hartford was even lower than the profit of 1.15 per cent of consolidated net sales reported by the company for the fiscal year ended Feb. 28, 1950.

Mr. Hartford said a full statement of the company's policy in the current national emergency will appear over his signature in nation-wide newspaper advertisements later this week.

In today's statement, Mr. Hartford pledged A. & P. to continue to strive for more efficient distribution and to fight any waste of food, time or money so as to narrow the spread between wholesale and retail prices.

"With our boys fighting in Korea," he said, "we believe that all citizens and all businesses, big and little, should devote themselves wholeheartedly to the public interest."

Mr. Hartford said he was mindful that the company's policy of low cost and low profit in the mass distribution of quality food currently was under attack in a suit brought by the anti-trust lawyers to destroy A. & P. But, he emphasized, the "greater conflict in which our country is now engaged takes precedence over all else."

"We will strive always to do what is honest, fair, sincere and in the best interest of our country and our customers," he said. "And we promise that we will continue to do everything in our power to put more buying power in the consumer's food dollar and more good food on the family dinner table."

about Gibby Buerkle and his "lost division" in the parade. It seems that Gibby was chief of the third division, headed by the Dunkirk American Legion band, but for some reason or other his unit was not ready to go when the bombs went off. Behind his outfit was Louis Frederickson and his fourth division headed by the Massillon drum corps. When it was discovered the third was still forming, Gibby, a parader with long experience, decided to move the fourth in place, and after some tactful maneuvering, he succeeded but with some little delay, as spectators will recall. . . . ### Enjoyable Reunion Of Musante Descendants

A reunion of the descendants of Peter and Angelina Musante was held at the South Side picnic grove, with 62 members in the total attendance of 76. The oldest of these was Genoa Musante and the youngest was Charles, Jr., his grandson.

The history of the family goes back to 1882, when Peter and Angelina Musante came to America from Genoa, Italy, with their three children: Anthony Ammedeo, Andrew G., and Donatella.

Anthony married Ann Mangini, and nine children were born to them: Mrs. Rose Masci, Andrew, Vincent, Peter, John, Mrs. Andrew Hollingshead, Mrs. Mary Shanks, and Joseph. Mr. and Mrs. Musante and one son, John, are deceased.

Andrew G., who is better known to close friends as "Genoa," married Edith Carlson and they had three children: Mrs. Ruth Kelley, Mrs. Alice Giegerich, and Charles. The mother is deceased.

Donatella was married to Clyde Henry and moved to Chicago, Ill. They had four children, one of whom, Delos Henry, lives in Warren at present. Mrs. Henry has since died and her husband and other children, Mae, Cath-line and Leroy, continue to reside in Chicago.

Among those attending this year's reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Giegerich and five children, Garden Grove, Calif.

A good time was had during the afternoon, the children enjoying the playground and particularly the wading pool. A picnic dinner was served at 5:30 o'clock, after which all adjourned with the wish that it might be made an annual event.

Akeley WSCS Planning Smorgasbord As Benefit

WSCS members of the Akeley Methodist church enjoyed a bountiful picnic dinner on the lawn at the home of Mildred Angove, with Edna Angove as co-hostess. The total of 45 persons served included Mrs. Eva Fuller, of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Yates, of Florida, as out of town guests.

President Grace Granquist conducted the business session, with Mabel Larson, spiritual life secretary, leading the devotions. Myrtle Nelson, promotion secretary, told of the annual School of Missions to be held at Chautauqua, August 20-26. Secretary Ora Miller called the roll and read minutes of the June session.

It was announced a smorgasbord will be held at the Grange hall August 1st to raise money for the church building fund. Committees were appointed, with Ellen Lundgren, secretary of church activities, in charge.

After further routine business, Frances Kalits and Josephine Larsen read a story of Israel, "Never Again Such Insecurity" from the study book. Several members told of interesting customs of the Jewish people, Grace Granquist offered and all joined in The Lord's Prayer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Margaret Arthur August 9th, with Josephine Lindquist as co-hostess and "K" designated as the letter for the memory verses.

Too Many Moms 'Stand Back' When They Should Advance

I've just been reading one of those question and answer pages on how to handle your child, written for a magazine by presumably an expert on child training. Anyhow, there's an impressive Ph. D. after the author's name.

Here's a sample question and answer: "What does one do when an angry child slams a door in one's face?"

Answer: "Stand back. Then do nothing until you have reason to believe that the child's anger has cooled off. Trying to reason with an angry person is like hitting your head against the proverbial stone wall. When the child is in a good mood, explain to him how dangerous door-slaming can be. Go so far as to give him a description of how a person can lose a finger from a slammed door. Several talks of this sort are generally enough to cure a door slammer."

What got me about that answer was the command, "Stand back." In one phrase or another, that is what today's parents are constantly being told. Stand back. Wait. Don't try to force an issue. Realize the child is just going through a "stage"—and so on and so on.

And along with all this "stand back and wait" advice—there is never any suggestion that children should be taught to respect grown-ups because they are grown-ups and parents because they are parents.

HOW ABOUT JOHNNY'S SEAT?

YOU don't, you notice, see anything in the answer quoted about Y Mama's making it clear to Johnny that she isn't going to stand for having a door slammed in her face—that it's something no parent ought to stand for and that if it ever happens again, it isn't Mama's finger that is likely to be hurt but Johnny's seat.

Nope. Mama is told to stand back and when Johnny is his own sweet self again to try to convince him that door slaming can be dangerous. If Johnny is half the little rebel he appears to be, he ought to have a ready answer to Mama's attempt to show him that if slams a door in her face he might catch her finger.

The answer: "Then, when I slam a door you'd better stand back."

GOOD-ness Sake

It might have been you or it might have been yours—Here are but a few human interest stories which have come to light with the start of the Red Cross National Blood Program: In January 1948, a call came for three pints of Type A-Rh negative blood for an emergency operation on a child who had been seriously injured while coasting with some playmates. The blood was on hand in the District of Columbia Blood Center's refrigerator, and within five minutes after the call came in, the Red Cross Motor Service had it in the station wagon and was on her way to the hospital with it. If that had been your child, the blood needed for transfusion would have been immediately available at the Warren General Hospital at no cost for the blood.

One day a 50-year old man was struck by an automobile in Brooklyn, New York. So severely injured was he, that he was given a first transfusion the minute he was carried into the emergency room of the hospital, and the second blood transfusion was administered in the elevator as he was being taken to the operating room. Much more blood was used to save his life . . . and it was Red Cross blood at no cost for the blood. If that had been you, the same service would have been available here at home, thanks to the local chapter's participation in the blood program and to the people who have donated blood thus far. The Red Cross bloodmobile visits Warren again on Thursday, August 10, from 10 a. m. 'til 4 p. m. Do your part! If you are in good health and between the ages of 18 and 59, pledge a pint of blood now. Call 2926.

Inadvertently omitted from the list of Red Cross Volunteer workers who served on July 12, was Miss Mildred Blair. All of the ladies who help are essential to the ultimate success of Warren's blood collections.

HAS SPECIAL CEREMONY
Sugar Grove, July 25—Mrs. Theodore Allenson entertained the July meeting of the WCTU, with 12 members, 6 guests and 10 children in attendance. Mrs. Mabel Dallas conducted the session and Mrs. L. L. Adams was in charge of devotions. Mrs. Nell Scott was accompanist for group singing. Mrs. Dallas read a short article and Mrs. Scott read an item concerning the World WCTU convention.

Mrs. Dallas then conducted an impressive ribbon-tying service, when all children were presented by their mothers and white ribbons were tied on their wrists "to dedicate them to temperance work and to remind them of the evils of smoking and drinking". Mrs. Bloomster made the closing prayer, after which the hostess served refreshments.

A—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.75 plus tax (adv.) at Mullen Drug Co.

SCUTL

TREATED: Beautiful turf because SCUTL stopped the Crabgrass. UNTREATED: Demon Crabgrass smothering the desirable grasses.

Availability of a new and revolutionary dry-applied powder which kills crabgrass but does not harm desirable lawn grasses was announced today by Pickett's, dealers for O. M. Scott & Sons Co., lawn specialists.

Developed by Scott's Lawn Research, the herbicide stimulates spraying, hand-pulling and other better methods used in the past to combat this hard-to-eradicate lawn eye-sore. The new material, called SCUTL, is simply scattered over the infested area by hand or with a two-wheeled spreader. The particles of powder fasten themselves tightly to the broad crabgrass blades which absorb the chemicals. The plants wither and die.

SCUTL is a green colored, lightweight material, easy to handle and almost dustless. It does not harm pets or birds in normal usage and will not damage flowers or shrubs unless almost deliberately administered.

From experiments conducted by leading agronomists, as well as private lawn owners in the past several years, the producers of SCUTL have learned that it is best applied when crabgrass is flourishing, usually in July and August. The treatments should be made before the crabgrass has an opportunity to drop the seeds that will live to plague the lawn in future years.

Available in small, medium or large packages at 95c, $1.95 and $6.85

Nursing Home At Clarendon Heights

Mrs. Florence Pettit, resident of the Clarendon-Stoneham area for many years, recently purchased the property at Clarendon Heights owned by the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ridelberger, where she has opened a nursing home.

There are thirteen rooms and three baths in the structure, and Mrs. Pettit announces that the present capacity is nine beds.

The residence, on the west side of the highway between Stoneham and Clarendon, is constructed on a knoll that commands a view over a wide area. At the time it was constructed it was one of the largest and most attractive homes between Warren and Sheffield.

Mrs. Pettit was employed at the Warren State Hospital for fifteen years and has had considerable previous nursing experience.

Over 1,500 Enjoy A Concert and Social At the Beaty School

Over 1,500 persons attended the ice cream social and band concert at Beaty school Monday evening, it is announced today after a final tabulation of the ticket sales.

Directors of the Music Boosters Association express deep gratification at this large turn out, despite inclement weather, and extend their thanks to the many who contributed to the success of the event by donating cakes, selling tickets, serving, or in any other way.

Particularly in recognition due Director Harry Summers and his High School and Dungearee bandsmen, who presented a thoroughly enjoyable concert throughout the evening. Though a large percentage of the membership of these bands changes each year and many of the present members have been such only a short time, the high degree of musicianship displayed under the leadership of Mr. Summers was most pleasing, and all in attendance were loud in their praise of the accomplishments of the Summer Band School.

Especially well received were the featured soloists, Charles Eaton, trombone, and Louis Garber, cornet.

'Rubbish Collector'

To the Editor:
I found this story in the March 9, 1950, issue of the Los Angeles Times.

"Officer R. L. Smith, who looked so very young, and said he was a rubbish collector," according to Miss Fawn Powell, 23, a waitress, arrested Miss Powell early yesterday on charges of violating the city's ordinance barring solicitation of drinks by women in saloons.

"Miss Powell, who lives at 6426 Clifford St., according to Smith's report, was arrested at 527 S. Main St. and booked at City Jail."

Well, come to think of it, maybe Officer Smith was right when he said he was a rubbish collector. After all, a cop on a saloon beat certainly collects a lot of rubbish. Right? RAGS

Americans are still the world's heaviest drinkers, consuming nearly three times as much liquor, wine, and beer per capita annually as the French, Miss Violet T. Black, treasurer and member of the executive committee of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, said in a recent news release.

She challenged a recent widely published French government sponsored survey by the National Institute of Demographic Studies which ranked the French highest in liquor, wine, and beer consumption per person and the United States fifth, under the Italians, Belgians and Brits.

"The French Institute," Miss Black said, "reported that the 41,500,000 Frenchmen drink 1,134,000,000 quarts of alcoholic beverages of all kinds or 27 quarts per capita annually, as compared, it said, with a consumption of 4 1/4 quarts per capita in the United States."

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long AP News/satires

Chapter 29

WE looked at each other with the awe of discovery. Then a question arose in my mind.

"Four ounces is a good bit to get inside of a man all at once without his knowing," I said a little doubtfully. "And if it had been given to him in small doses, wouldn't there have been symptoms that would have begun to show up before he'd got enough to prove fatal?"

"There wouldn't be four ounces of the actual poison," Amédée explained. "That's merely the required amount of the root. As to preliminary symptoms..."

He laid the book aside, and picked up another.

"Apparently there aren't any," he reported after a moment. "It says here that the effect is cumulative. And listen to this: 'Toxicity develops suddenly and without warning after small, repeated doses.' That proves that it could have been administered over a period of time. And, Peter, I believe I know how it was done. Both Claude and Grandpère were pipe smokers."

"Oh," I exclaimed, suddenly remembering Claude's huge pipe and the ungodly odors that had arisen from it.

"Peter, I believe we're getting somewhere at last," he said soberly. "We've a pretty clear picture now of how Claude and Grandpère could have been killed, and we've found a logical motive for Uncle Raoul's death. But what about Lee? Had Uncle Raoul told him something that he didn't tell the rest of us, and did the murderer know or suspect it?"

I had forgotten temporarily about Lee.

"Either that," I said slowly, "or else..."

Then I stopped as I realized where that thought led.

"Or else what?" Amédée prompted when I didn't go on.

"Or else Lee knew who the person was who left the house ahead of Uncle Raoul that night," I finished reluctantly.

"No, Peter," Amédée said. "I can't accept that theory any more than I could accept the idea of Lee's guilt. Besides, he was with the rest of us in New Orleans when Lee died."

"But he could have driven back during the night without your knowing," I stopped with the sudden, jarring feeling that I had stepped from solid earth into an open manhole, and that to make it worse, somebody was about to slip the cover on.

"Oh!" I said in a voice that sounded as though it had been dropped down the manhole too. "I forgot. The house was locked and bolted, he couldn't have got in. That—that was why we all decided that Lee's death had to be suicide in the first place."

And then, just as the manhole cover was almost in place, Amédée jerked it off again.

"THERE was a way he could have got in, Peter," he said quietly. "I didn't mention it to the sheriff, because I thought then that Lee actually had committed suicide."

"What was it?" I breathed, almost afraid to hope.

"The woodbox," he replied. "Remember? The way you and Bobby got in that night after we'd been to New Orleans, and Aunt Minerva locked you out."

The woodbox, of course! I had forgotten its very existence.

"Oh!" I exclaimed again. "So that was what Aunt Delphine meant when she told the sheriff she'd seen someone come in through the wall! Only none of us would pay any attention to her, because she'd been talking again about the werewolf!"

I had to explain that before we went any further. When I had finished, Amédée smoked for a few minutes in silence.

"Yes," he said at last. "I've got to admit that it all fits together perfectly." But in spite of everything, I still can't believe he did it. What was his motive? I mean, why should he have killed Grandpère in the first place? What could Grandpère have found out about him that was bad enough to make him commit murder to keep it from being told?

I had been thinking about that for some time myself.

"Dédé," I began uncertainly, "you remember how, after Uncle Raoul told us what he had learned from Mr. Duval that afternoon, you remarked that it was strange that your grandfather should have sent for Henri. It may be just a crazy idea, and I can't even explain why I think it, but I believe that if we knew why he wanted to see Henri in particular, we'd have the answer to the whole thing."

"I've a feeling it may not be so crazy at that," he replied thoughtfully. "But since Henri himself doesn't know the reason, I don't see how we're going to find it out."

We sat for a while in silence then, both trying to think of some logical explanation of why Henri, the youngest of Colonel Dumont's grandsons, should have been sent for along with Claude, the eldest.

As I often do when I'm trying to think, I thrust my hands deep into the pockets of my skirt. I was wearing the same dress that I had worn the afternoon of the old man's funeral; and now my fingers encountered the three strips of red cloth that Aunt Delphine had given me, and which I had put there after the interlude with Claude, and forgotten. I brought them out, and began to twist them absently.

Amédée glanced down at them. "Where in the world did you get those?" he inquired.

I told him.

"Aunt Delphine seemed to think they were important," I finished. "And so, I believe, did Claude, for he tried to make me give them to him. I asked Lewis Hays what they were, but he said he had no idea. Do you know?"

An odd expression had come into his face.

"Know what they are?" he repeated. "Yes, Peter, I know what they are. They're the explanation of the thing Grandpère heard, and was led to believe was an hallucination. They're the reason Grandpère sent for Henri, and the reason why not only Claude and Lee and Uncle Raoul as well were murdered!"

Greek Association To Meet in Warren

A four-day meeting of the Siatians Business Men's Association will be held at the Marconi Outing Club, starting Sunday. Between 200 and 300 members and their families from states throughout eastern United States are expected to attend.

The organization was formed about 1917 by a group of 20 men from the same town in Greece. The town is located in the northern section of that country and has been hard hit by ravages of war. Much of the organization's work is devoted to helping crippled children and orphans "back home."

It will be the first meeting of the organization ever held in Warren.

The dinners, including a lamb roast Monday, will be prepared by the Lewis Catering Service.

Australia—Said it is ready to send troops, the number to be decided after Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies confers with President Truman in Washington tomorrow.

New Zealand—Offered an artillery combat force of undisclosed size. Will start enlisting volunteers tomorrow.

Bolivia—Offered 30 officers.

Nationalist China—Before the U. N. call went out offered 40,000 troops, but the offer was turned down by the U. S. because of the danger the war might spread to Communist China.

Lebanon—The cabinet voted to send $50,000 as symbolic aid. Reliable sources said no military aid would be sent.

...and that non-defense spending be cut sharply.

However, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee said he hadn't been informed of any impending request.

4. The president had ready for his signature a bill lengthening by a year the enlistment period of men in uniform. It passed the house yesterday, along with a measure—not yet approved by the senate—to take the ceiling off military manpower.

The president's plan to put 600,000 more men in uniform got general approval from legislators, some of whom said privately they don't view the military picture in Korea with as much optimism as armed services chiefs are reported to do.

Planes and Infantry Smash Communist Drive in South

An Army and a Marine division enroute from the United States—assures the Korean "beachhead" can be held.

In sharp contrast to this headquarters statement, Associated Press Correspondent Lief Erickson at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea said the rosy American optimism of last week was sorely misplaced.

Erickson said the United Nations forces are running out of space in which to hold while they wait for reinforcements.

MacArthur's spokesman asserted a "continuous line" had been established. But he alluded only to the short central sector around Yongdong—placing the battle line from Yongju in the northeast to near Yongdong.

He glossed over the fact that the whole left flank in the southwest has been circled by North Korean forces. He termed them insignificant.

CLUB WILL PICNIC

About 100 members of the Coneywango Club have made reservations and will gather at seven o'clock this evening at the Marconi Outing Club to enjoy a chicken barbecue and annual picnic.

FIGHTING MARINE ("JUNIOR CLASS")—Seven-year-old Tommy Hart, left, of Detroit, Mich., thought he heard the man on the radio say that "men of seven" could enlist in the Marine Corps, so he hot-footed it down to the recruiting station. "No Hart ever had to be drafted," he told Marine Capt. Garth Sturdevant. Capt. Sturdevant took Tommy's fingerprints and signed him up as a Marine, "Junior Class." That's his honorary membership card. Tommy is proudly showing his friend, Donald Poniatowski.

President Warns Conflict In Korea Will Be Costly

drastic steps if the military situation worsens.

Industry now is breaking all production records, he said. Yet, without adding new plants, it can speed up to a production rate of more than $275,000,000,000 annually by New Year's Day without undue strain on materials, plants or manpower supply.

Another increase, fully as large, may be expected in 1951 as a result of rising output per man-hour of work, Mr. Truman predicted.

But because of shortages of steel, copper and certain other materials—whose prices have soared in the last few weeks—some civilian goods must be shunted off the production lines to make room for armaments. Limited controls should suffice, Mr. Truman said, but he went on:

"This does not mean that we can meet our enlarged international obligations without some sacrifice of domestic consumption. 'Some sacrifice' is called for, and I am confident that the American people are ready to do their part."

On the voluntary side, the president asked:

Of business: Restraint in pricing its products and in buying materials for inventory. And, most particularly, expansion of industry's capacity to turn out the basic products needed for war or peace.

Of labor: Avoidance of wage demands "which might lead to an other inflationary spiral. And above all, an effort with management to achieve industrial peace."

"Work stoppages in vital industries are something we simply cannot afford under current conditions," he said.

Of the public: Avoidance of scare-buying.

VISITATION MEETING AT SCANDIA GRANGE

Lander, July 26—Twenty-five members of Farmington Grange attended the visitation meeting at Scandia Grange Tuesday evening and presented the following program numbers:

Reds Make Plea To Koreans In Japan

Tokyo, July 26—(P)—The Korea Communist radio is urging Koreans in Japan to destroy American military bases—by suicide tactics if necessary.

A broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, last night also asked Koreans in Japan to obstruct the flow of American supplies from Japan to South Korea.

Addressed to "our 65,000 compatriots in Japan," the broadcast as heard here said:

"The time has come for you to arise, liquidate your sense of ease, throw away your opportunism and fence-sitting. x x x Join in the fight for the independence, unification and freedom of our motherland."

"Launch immediately on suicide squad activities. x x x Cooperate with Japanese workers and obstruct the transportation of military supplies. x x x destroy military bases. Overthrow the reactionary cabinet of Japan. Your motherland strongly appeals to you."

they need, when they need it, with the least necessary dislocation of the civilians."

Baruch said America has the choice of "peace or butter" and the real danger is not government control but military defeat abroad and inflation at home.

He told the senators that the current bill, while good in part, does not go far enough.

"The situation is sufficiently grave to warrant an over-all ceiling across the entire economy—over all prices, wages, rents, fees, and so on, with high enough taxes to prevent profiteering and to pay all defense costs, and an all-embracing, effective system of priorities," Baruch asserted.

He said the present bill, in setting up priorities, would defeat itself by making no provision for price control.

In addition to priorities and price freeze, Baruch urged a number of other measures.

These included anti-profiteering taxes by the second half of this year; rent controls with a provision for justifiable increases; a mobilization agency to synchronize American efforts; postponement of less essential spending, both public and private; strengthening of the United Nations in the common defense of peace, and speedier assistance in rearming allied nations.

Measure To Boost Old-Age Pensions Is Ready For Signing

Washington, July 26—(P)—Congressional leaders hoped today to place on President Truman's desk before the end of next week a bill to boost federal old-age pensions. It would also bring 10,000,000 more workers into the retirement system.

Pension rates for persons retiring in the future would be increased about 100 per cent, while payments to about 3,000,000 persons already drawing benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program would go up an average of 77 1/2 per cent, effective Oct. 1.

Maximum benefits for a family would be raised from $85 to $150 a month.

To finance the expanded social security program, payroll taxes collected by the government would more than double over the next twenty years, rising from $2,500,000,000 this year to about $6,000,000,000 in 1970.

The taxes are paid by employer and employee on a 50-50 basis.

Workers covered by the old age and survivors insurance system would be increased from the present 35,000,000 to about 45,000,000. Among those to be brought into the program are 5,000,000 self-employed, 1,000,000 domestic servants and 700,000 regularly employed farm workers.

Payroll taxes under the compromise bill would be collected on annual earnings up to $3,600 instead of $3,000 as at present.

Under the existing rate of 1 1/2 per cent on employer and employee, this would increase the maximum tax on each from $45 to $54 a year.

The payroll tax on employer and employee alike would rise to 2 per cent in 1954, to 2 1/2 per cent in 1960, to 3 per cent in 1965 and to 3 1/2 per cent in 1970.

MRS. WILLIAM F. SMITH
Maud A. Smith, wife of William F. Smith, of Pittsfield, died at her home at 7 a. m. today following a short illness. She was 69 years of age.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Smith is survived by three children, Mrs. Pearl Smith, of Pittsfield; Harold Smith, of Warren; and Master Sergeant Robert Smith, of Fort Knox, Ky.; also 13 grandchildren; one brother and one sister, Will McGuire and Mrs. E. W. Williams, both of Warren.

Friends may call at the family home in Pittsfield beginning this evening, and services in her memory will be held from there at 3:30 p. m. on Friday. Burial will take place in Pittsfield cemetery.

"Irregularities" At Shamokin Hospital

Harrisburg, July 26—(P)—Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn today reported "irregularities" and "poorly kept records" at the Shamokin State Hospital during the fiscal year ended May 31, 1949.

Heyburn made the charges in his annual audit of the institution records prepared for Gov. James H. Duff.

The report disclosed that $118,234, was written off by the institution as free service to patients.

Free treatment is provided by the state to persons who show complete lack of ability to pay.

Work on the report was stated shortly after Duff fired all but one of the trustees at the hospital.

The chairman of the board of trustees had been H. Wilson Lark, Shamokin, father of Henry W. Lark, Northumberland county Republican chairman.

The Larks had opposed Duff's successful bid for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator. Northumberland county, however, landed in the Duff column.

President's Appeal For Five Billion Dollars In New Taxes

(From Page One)

2. The absence of any excess profits tax proposals in the president's program. The critics here want a crack-down on "profiteering."

This is what Mr. Truman proposed:

1. Take the peace-time $1,000,000 excise tax cutting bill off the shelf where it was put when the Korean war started. Cut out the $1,000,000,000 excise cut, and then use the bill's skeleton to build the body of a $5,000,000,000 emergency tax increase. Retain the loophole-plugging, corporate dividend withholding and life insurance company taxes of the old bill.

2. Raise corporation rates, effective on 1950 income, from 38 per cent to about 45 per cent.

3. Increase individual income tax rates to the levels of 1945, by removing the reductions from those levels made in 1945 and 1948.

PENELEC PICNIC

The affair is being staged at Island Park at Youngsville and will include a program of sports events for all ages, with prizes; a ball game between the operating and generating departments; and a Lewis dinner served at 6:30 p. m.

PATROLOUTING

Plans are nearing completion for the Warren County Motor Club's annual outing for its School Safety Patrol personnel of Warren and surrounding communities, to be held next Wednesday, August 2, at Midway on Lake Chautauque. Chartered buses will take the patrol members to the resort, leaving Warren at 1:30 p. m. With about 75 expected from Sheffield, total attendance is expected to reach 150.

THE MARKETS

New York, July 26—(P)—The stock market, bedevilled by tax problems and disturbing war news from Korea, declined over a broad front today. At the opening prices showed a degree of stability. In short order, though, losses started to pile up. Steels and motors were particularly hard hit. Declines ranged to around $2 a share at the worst. Even the rails, which have advanced for the past nine sessions, were caught in the retreat. Trading started off at a fast clip, soon slowed to a walk.

TROOPS USE KNOCKOUT PUNCH—Yank infantrymen on battleline somewhere in South Korea prepare to fire the new 3.5-inch rocket launcher at Communist North Korean invaders. The new weapon has been credited with knocking out big Russian-made tanks. One of the bazooka's rockets lies on the ground in front of the soldier aiming the weapon.

WAC'S BACK—Pic. Rita Strittmatter of New York became the first WAC reservist to apply for active duty on the outbreak of the Korean war. She's being congratulated by Col. H. A. Cooney, chief of the New York military district. A World War II veteran, Rita has six battle stars to her credit for European service.

IT'S ON THE BAG—Hoarders will be marked men if they run afoul of Ernest L. Murphy's one-man, anti-hoarding campaign. Murphy's plan, proposed in Detroit, Mich., is to make the hoarders carry his goods in a specially-marked shopping bag, similar to the one above. This, thinks Murphy, would keep stores from being sacked by war-scarred buyers.

BIG ACCIDENT—William Anderson, 40, of Lake Chautauque, N. Y., without success, as Kennedy rowed shoreward, his line, accidentally trailing in the water, was taken by this 50-inch, 33-pound muskellunge. Minus a net, the Kennedy N. Y. angler called on nearby fishermen to aid in boat- ing the large fellow.

PICKETS PICKET—Clyde E. Palmer, left, publisher of newspapers at Texarkana, Ark.-Tex., and El Dorado, Ark., with his granddaughter, Virginia Lee Palmer, parades in front of the Texarkana Gazette and News. They're picketing the International Typographical Union picket at right. Palmer claims printers went out on strike, but called it a lockout. Palmer claims printers reluctantly struck under pressure from the ITU's national leaders.

Hansen, St. Auger, Pa.

DENT YOUR TEETH?—A Finnish circus performer, Mr. Hauta-viita shows how to bend a horse shoe into the shape of a banana, using nothing but your teeth and neck muscles—and how to bend it back again the same way. The dental feat took place in Stockholm, Sweden.

HE'D PUSH BUTTON—Alvin York, top hero of World War I, said in Wolf River, Tenn., that if we fight Russia we should use the atom bomb, and "if they can't find anyone else to push the button, I will." The 63-year-old mountaineer, who captured 132 Germans by himself in the first war, is currently recovering from a siege of pneumonia.

WEARY SOLDIER RESTS—This tired Yank infantryman takes a short nap during a lull in bitter fighting somewhere in South Korea. He keeps his rifle on his lap, ready for instant use.

FISH DOG—Most hounds got their kicks out of life chasing cats or retrieving birds, but Sorrel goes in for fishing hook, line and sinker. Here the Irish setter, owned by Maury Darr of Guerneville, Calif., splashes out of the Russian River with a 16-inch shad clamped in his mouth.

TRUMP-PLAYERS RISK BECOMING DERELICTS

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Twenty thousand men are walking the streets of London," runs the old saying, "homeless and penniless—because they failed to lead trumps." If you're inclined to pity these poor unfortunates, shed a tear at the same time for the equally miserable thousands who draw trumps when they shouldn't have. In today's hand, for example, South would have been a gone goose if he had drawn trumps.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit, South ruffing the second round with the ten of hearts. Now if South tried to draw trumps he would have to use up all of his trumps to draw those held by West. He would then be able to cash his top cards in the minor suits. The moment he gave up the lead, however, the opponents would bury him under an avalanche of spades. South would therefore make only his five trumps and his four top cards in the minors, for a one-trick set.

After ruffing the second spade, South decided to set up the dummy and draw trumps from the North hand. With this object in mind he led the eight of hearts to dummy's nine, and ruffed a third spade with the jack of hearts. He next led the queen of hearts to dummy's king and returned dummy's last spade, ruffing with the ace of hearts.

By this time East had failed to follow suit in both spades and hearts. It was therefore clear that West had begun with five spades and four hearts. At this point, West held one spade, two hearts, and his original four cards in the minor suits.

If South made the mistake of leading clubs first, he would make only one diamond trick. West would ruff the second diamond and lead the queen of clubs. This would limit declarer to nine tricks.

South could not tell that West held a singleton diamond. However, it was important for South to begin the minor suit in which West was short. Since declarer could see eight diamonds in the combined hands and only five clubs, he quite properly decided that West was more likely to be short in diamonds than in clubs. Acting on this assumption, South cashed the ace of diamonds and led a low diamond towards dummy. West was helpless to defeat the contract after this play. If he discarded, dummy would take the king of diamonds and declarer would then cash his two clubs and a trump, fulfilling his contract.

If West ruffed the low diamond, dummy would play low. West could next cash his spade, but would then have to lead a trump or a club. In either case, dummy could take the king of clubs and the king of hearts, thus drawing the last trump. It would then be safe to cash the king of diamonds, and South's ace of clubs would take the tenth trick.

$112,000,000 Being Spent During Year On State Highways

Pittsburgh, July 26 — (P) — Pennsylvania will spend a record-breaking $112,000,000 on highway improvements during the current fiscal year, Ray F. Smock, state highways secretary, has reported.

This compares, he said, with the previous three-year annual average $95,183,000 which was an all-time high record.

Smock made the statement in an address at formal ground-breaking ceremonies near here on the new Penn-Lincoln parkway, west of the Monongahela river.

This marvelous Penn-Lincoln parkway will give the people of Pittsburgh and our state one of the nation's greatest urban roadways," Smock said.

He added that it will contain the most modern engineering features yet devised and will move a great volume of traffic smoothly, safely and at high speed.

Potato Cooperative Gives Support To Festival In Corry

The Pennsylvania Co-Operative Potato Growers Association has assured its full support to the Potato Festival which will be held in Corry during Pennsylvania Week, October 16-22, according to the Corry Journal.

In a meeting with Richard Rosbacher, president of the Corry Chamber of Commerce, C. W. York, Allentown, state secretary and educational director of the co-operative, and Frank Dodd both promised the association will co-operate in attempting to assure success of the week-long event.

Both the C. of C. and the potato growers association will be working from now until October 16 on plans which include a parade on Wednesday afternoon, October 18, in which the Pennsylvania Potato Queen and "Miss Corry", who will be selected as the Corry queen to reign over Pennsylvania Week, will take part. The parade will be made up principally of trucks from area potato farms along with those from the business and industrial places.

On Wednesday, and possibly for the entire week, it is hoped to have Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, Corry's selection as Pennsylvania Ambassador in Corry.

Also through the week it is planned to have a display of Corry's industrial products at the State Armory on East Washington street.

Taking a feature from the annual State Farm Show, the potato growers are arranging to sell baked potatoes at the vacant lot at the corner of East Washington street and Maple avenue.

In addition, the association will set up tents housing grading machinery and carry out the potato grading process there where the public can view it. The spuds will be hauled in from area farms, graded, bagged and then sold to the public through representatives of the local grocery stores.

While plans are still indefinite, the committee is working out details in staging a football game at Loveland Field. Known as the Potato Bowl Game, C. of C. officials are hoping to turn it into an annual attraction.

Conewango Country Club Champion To Play at Chautauqua

Two Chautauqua county golf champions will be vying for honors of 36 holes at the Chautauqua Amateur Golf Tournament. They are Chuck Davis, Moon Brook Club champ, and Floyd Pettit, Chautauqua Club champ.

Chuck, who lives on the Warren-Jamestown Road, is also the club champion at the Conewango Valley Country Club.

Davis' superb iron play in a raging windstorm brought him to victory in the annual tournament last year, making him the defending champ.

With Davis' iron shots, Pettit's long wood drives, and the fact that both boys play an accurate short game, competition should be tough in Friday's tournament.

Another main contender for laurels against these two will be Bob Fisher, who has been playing a steady game at the Moon Brook Club. Bob was also runner-up to Davis for the club championship last year.

The tournament, which is sponsored by the Jamestown Post-Journal, will be made up of three flights. The championship flight, as mentioned above, will be 36 holes for those with a handicap of 1 through 9; flight B will be 18 holes with a handicap of 10 through 16; and flight C a handicap of 17 or over.

Trophies will be presented the winners of each flight by the Post-Journal.

Boudreau Tribe Beats Athletics For 12th Win in Last 16 Starts

By The Associated Press
Cleveland's rampaging Indians looking more menacing each day, loomed as the real "dark horse" in the jumbled American League pennant race.

No club in the league—and that includes the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and runner-up New York Yankees—has looked better than Lou Boudreau's men, who have run up 12 triumphs in their last 16 games.

Whereas three weeks ago, the Indians trailed the Tigers by seven full games, they are only two and a half games out today. Thanks to a 7-5 triumph over Philadelphia last night while both the Tigers and Yankees were losing, the Indians find themselves in the best position they've been all year.

True, they still are in third place, one length back of the Yankees and three in front of the Boston Red Sox, but they are in good shape to make a whale of a battle out of it the rest of the way. They own three top flight pitchers in Bob Lemon, Bob Feller and Early Wynn, and in rookies Al Rosen and Luke Easter, they possess two of the top sluggers in the game.

Feller was the winner yesterday, although he needed help from Lemon in the ninth. It was Bob's 10th triumph of the year. He got a big lift from Easter, who smashed his 18th and 19th homers off loser Alex Kellner.

The Red Sox won a 7-6 nip-and-tuck affair from Detroit, scoring three runs in the eighth off relief pitcher Hal White to overcome a 6-4 deficit. Three runs in each of the fifth and seventh innings had enabled the Tigers to overcome an early 4-0 Boston lead. Each club used four pitchers, with Chuck Stobbs the winner and White the loser.

Stubby Overmire pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 4-3 victory over the Yankees. The little left-hander, who holds two of the three Brownie wins over New York, had a three-hit shutout until the ninth. Four hits, including a two-run homer by Johnny Mize, gave the Yankees three runs. Overmire batted in what proved to be the winning runs with a two-run single off Vic Raschi in the fifth.

Fine relief pitching by Joe Hayes and strong stickwork by Sam Mele and Gil Coan helped Washington triumph over the Chicago White Sox, 7-4.

Philadelphia's Phillies moved back to the top of the National League by handing the Chicago Cubs two shutout defeats, 7-0 and 1-0. Bubba Church hurled a three-hitter in the opener and Robin Roberts followed with a six-hitter. It was the latter's 12th triumph. Johnny Klippstein and Bob Rush were the victims.

The Cubs have now suffered through three straight shutout losses. They were beaten, 3-0, in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader with the New York Giants.

The Phils' double win put them a half game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9-5. The Boston Braves moved into the third spot, two and a half games off the pace, by thrashing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2, as Johnny Sain notched his 10th success of the season.

A five-run eighth inning and another tally in the ninth on Bob Usher's error gave the New York Giants a 7-6 triumph over Cincinnati.

Del Rice's three-run homer highlighted a four-run eighth inning, which enabled the Cards to overcome a 5-3 Dodger lead. It marked the first St. Louis win in Ebbets field this year.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

Chapter 30

FOR one terrible minute I had the awful suspicion that maybe Beate had been right after all and the Dumonts were a little mentally unbalanced. If Amédée was doing to start babbling about three little strips of red cloth being the reason why half of his entire family had been murdered...

He must have guessed what was passing through my mind. "It's all right, Peter," he said quickly. "I'm not crazy. But I see the whole thing now, and we were dead wrong about most of it. Claude and Grandpere may have been killed because of what they knew, but Lee and Uncle Raoul weren't. They were slated to die for an entirely different reason; and so, I'm convinced, were nearly all the rest of us."

It seemed to me that being the prospective candidate for the receiving end of a murder was hardly the thing to look so jubilant about, and I said so. He sobered at once.

"I didn't mean it that way," he said. "But the danger's past, now that we know the truth. Of course, we'll have to produce some material evidence against our killer before we can prove anything. But I know where to get that; or rather, Henri will. He and I will have to drive in to New Orleans at once. Will you be afraid to wait here until we get back?"

"Of course not," I answered with dignity. "But you said something just now about now that we know the truth. Wasn't that a slight overstatement?"

"Sorry," he apologized. "I forgot that you didn't know. The murderer is—Then he stopped. 'I'd better not tell you,' he said more gravely. If you knew, and should betray by a word or even a look that you knew—well, I'm not taking any chances."

I could have jumped up and down in sheer exasperation, except that I realized he was right. That evening immediately after supper Amédée and Henri set out for New Orleans, having explained for the benefit of the others that they were going to question the psychiatrist, Dr. Brennaman.

Serious Problems In Gray Markets And Soaring Prices

Washington, July 26—(AP)—Unless strong controls are applied quickly to installment buying and home mortgages, the Federal Reserve Board said, "the country will face serious problems of gray markets and spiraling prices."

The board told congress that the Korean crisis started a nationwide "buying spree" at a time when the country already was in a potentially inflationary situation. The reserve panel's views on economic phases of President Truman's mobilization program were outlined in a statement to the senate and house banking committees. The so-called gray markets to which it referred are not illegal. They involve willingness of consumers to bid and pay higher prices in order to obtain goods.

The board gave full support to President Truman's request for broad emergency controls over consumer credit and mortgages. Its statement said:

"Sales of automobiles and houses have risen to record levels and consumer prices are now higher than at any other time, except for a short period in the latter part of 1948."

"Authority for restrictions on consumer and real estate credit should be provided for use to the extent necessary as an essential part of the program for conserving resources for defense and protecting the economy against inflation.

"The need to strengthen our military defenses, x x x Prompt action is imperative."

Helmstedt has been a key point in German communications since early times.

Chinese Red Vets Recalled For The Invasion of Korea

BY BILL SHINN
U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea—(AP)—North Korean prisoners said today that 20,000 Korean veterans of the Chinese Red army were recalled in March for the invasion of South Korea. They added today in interviews:

Russian advisers are working with North Korean army units. Russia in May—At least a full month before the invasion—supplied the North Korean army with huge quantities of military equipment. This included an unknown number of tanks.

A companion strike at Formosa by the Chinese Communists apparently was planned but did not come off.

(The United States threw a screen of warships between Formosa and Red China a few days after the invasion of South Korea. And President Truman promised the Chinese Nationalists, on Formosa, protection if they were attacked by the Reds.)

Kim Kwang Whan, 24, and Suk Yung Chan, 22, said the 20,000 Korean veterans in March crossed the Yalu river separating Manchuria from North Korea.

As the 341st division of the Chinese Red 47th Army, the Koreans had fought several years in Manchuria, the two said. They added: The Koreans brought along "all kinds of arms and ammunition." The veterans were spread through North Korean army divisions.

Kim and Suk were among 239 prisoners in a stockade here. Some talked freely with correspondents at a news conference.

Kim and Suk said they crossed into Korea by train at Sunjul, near the mouth of the Yalu river, between March 7 and 15. They said they were born in Manchuria, and their families still live there.

Ko Duk Run, a second lieutenant, said the Chinese Communists told the Korean veterans that South Korea, Formosa and Hainan all would fall would fall at the same time.

Hainan fell in late April. The U. S. Seventh Fleet still is protecting Formosa.

IMMEDIATE NEED FOR RESERVE CORPS MEN

The Department of the Army has announced an immediate need for company grade officers (2nd Lieutenants through Captains) of the Organized Reserve Corps.

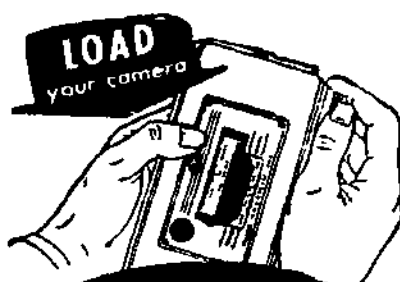

The greatest current need for officers is for Medical and Dental Corps, Corps of Engineers, and Infantry officers. However a demand exists for Chaplains, Ordnance, Signal Corps, Finance, Chemical, Armored, Field and Coast Artillery, all staff branches, and the Army Nurse Corps and Women's Medical Specialist Corps. All officers now members of the active, inactive or honorary reserve will be recalled for periods of one (1), two (2) or three (3) years in the grade now held.

Combat officers may not exceed the age of 35 years for lieutenants and 41 for captain. Service officers may not exceed 41 years for lieutenants and 45 as captains.

Eligible officers desiring recall to extended active duty will apply through their unit instructors, except officers in the Medical and Dental Corps, Medical Service Corps, Army Nurse Corps and Women's Medical Specialist Corps, who are directed to apply directly to the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C., attention: AGPR-D.

The automobile collection in the National Museum contains some of the first crude patent models.
